Come to Coffee with Cohen with Hoboken Public Library
Tuesday, October 18, 8 am - 9:30 am, at bwè kafe

Hoboken, NJ October 14, 2022 – Councilman Phil Cohen is hosting his next in-person "Coffee with Cohen" on Tuesday morning, at bwè kafe, 1002 Washington Street, and he'll be joined by returning guest Hoboken Public Library Director Jennie Pu and Jerome Abernathy, President of the Library's Board of Trustees. All are invited to share a cuppa and croissant, and catch up with what's going on in Hoboken and at the Library.

As always happens at Coffee with Cohen, there is a free exchange of ideas and information.

Among the topics the Library will cover is the progress being made on the renovation to the Library, and when the third floor is projected to re-open. Director Pu will talk about the library's new strategic plan, and how vital it is that everyone take the Library's community survey. She'll also touch upon all the new services the Library's offering, notably the assistance their community service workers are providing to the city's residents.

"Coffee with Cohen" is an ongoing series of community conversations the councilman has held since 2020 for residents of Hoboken's 5th Ward and anyone else who wants to attend. He invites you to join him for a conversation about the issues that matter to you and our community.

About the Hoboken Public Library: Founded in 1890, the Library is a cultural and educational centerpiece of the City of Hoboken, NJ. Its mission is to connect people with each other, ideas, and opportunities, and to support lifelong learning, personal growth, and community development.
